

INSURE IN THE Equitable Life Assurance

Society of the United States.

An Eminent Conservative and Safe Company.

FINANCIAL STRENGTH.

The consideration of first importance in judging of the condition of any financial institution (and notably of a life assurance company, the majority of whose contracts extend over long periods of years) is its surplus strength. The Equitable has, over and above all liabilities, a larger surplus than any other assurance company.

Assets, Dec. 31, 1891, $136,198,518.38
LIABILITIES, including the Reserve on all existing Policies, (4 per cent. Standard) and Special Reserve (toward the establishment of a 3 1/2 per cent. valuation) of $1,500,000 109,905,537.82
Surplus, $26,292,980.56

This Surplus remains after making provision for every obligation, on a rigid calculation of Liabilities based on the standard prescribed by the Insurance Law of the State of New York, which assumes that Assets will be invested so as to realize interest at the rate of 4 per cent. per annum. In addition to this, in a spirit of conservatism, the Directors of the Society, on the recommendation of its Finance Committee, have set aside a Special Additional Reserve, looking towards even a more stringent and conservative future standard of valuation than the law now prescribes.

A PRINCE TO LEAD.

George May Command England's Navy—Emperor William's Luxurious Private Train.

New York, May 9.—The Tribune will publish to-morrow a London cable letter from Edmund Yates, in which he says: There are widespread and persistent rumors that Prince George will shortly be made Admiral of the fleet and given the title of Commander-in-Chief of the navy. It is high time that the service had a royal chief, but a purely ornamental figurehead would be of little value. At the Royal Academy dinner a year or two ago the Duke of Cambridge returned thanks, as he always does, for the army, but, although the Duke of Edinburgh, a full Admiral, was present, Lord George Hamilton, a civilian, responded to the toast of the navy. Surely this ought not to be natural and proper. The head of the Queen's sea service ought to be the Duke of Edinburgh, whose thorough knowledge of that service is unsurpassed and whose popularity among the officers is as great as it is deserved.

The German Emperor is at last in possession of the imperial train-de-luxe, which it has taken three years to complete. It has cost about £90,000, and consists of twelve carriages communicating by corridors. The drawing-room and library are hung with Gobelin tapestry from the Charlottenburg palace, and the dining-room is paneled in old oak. Two compartments are reserved for the nursery. A bath is attached to each sleeping-room, and the reception-room is decorated with marble statuary. One car consists of a kitchen fitted with every modern appliance. News comes from Newmarket that the Duke of Rutland's Cambridge-shire estate has been sold to Harry McCalmont, and that the price exceeds $350,000. Cheveley Park is a fine old place, but there is not now much of a house and a new one will doubtless be built.

OAKLAND POOLROOMS DOOMED.

The following is from Oakland items in the San Francisco Chronicle: At the meeting of the City Council last night the ordinance prohibiting the selling of pools in the city came up for final passage. Mr. Nelson moved that the ordinance be finally passed. Mr. Brosnahan then made an amendment that the provision in the ordinance closing the pool-rooms in ninety days be stricken out and that the ordinance take effect on October 1, 1892. The amendment was carried, Messrs. Johnson, Parsons and Nelson voting no. Mr. Garthorne then moved that the provision preventing the selling of pools on race tracks in the city be stricken out. The amendment was carried. These amendments made it necessary to pass the ordinance to print again. The vote last night shows that the poolrooms are doomed. They will have to go on October 1st. The ordinance will come up for final passage at the next meeting of the council.

DEFEAT OF THE WHISKY TRUST.

Judge Dundy of the United States District Court, Omaha, Nebraska, entered judgment May 9th in the celebrated Nebraska City Distillery case. In 1887, the Nebraska City Distillery went into the whisky trust and after running for two years shut down. It had been leased to the trust for twenty-five years, and after being shut down, was sold to G. L. Woolsey under the condition that he should not use it for distilling purposes. Woolsey began the manufacture of whisky and high wines. The trust immediately began suits, alleging violation of the terms of sale. The defense was that the terms of the lease were intended to perpetuate a monopoly, and, therefore, contrary to public policy. Five suits in all were maintained, and in each instance the trust was defeated. Judgment was entered on May 9 and all the proceedings were dismissed.

STRANGE RACE OF CAVE-DWELLERS

At the Royal Geographical Society's meeting in Madrid a curious paper has been read by Dr. Bile, a medical man who has recently explored a wild district in the province of Caceres, still inhabited by a strange people who speak a curious patois and live in caves and inaccessible retreats. These singular remnants of some prehistoric race have a hairy skin, and have hitherto displayed an inveterate repugnance to mix with their Spanish and Portuguese neighbors. Lately roads have been pushed into the district inhabited by these "Jurdes," and according to Dr. Bile they are beginning to learn the Castilian language and to appear at fairs and markets in the province in order to purchase a few modern commodities and agricultural implements.—Pall Mall Gazette.

Mr. J. P. Blaize, an extensive real estate dealer in Des Moines, Iowa, narrowly escaped one of the severest attacks of pneumonia while in the northern part of that state during a recent blizzard, says the Saturday Review. Mr. Blaize had occasion to drive several miles during the storm and was so thoroughly chilled that he was unable to get warm, and inside of an hour after his return he was threatened with a severe case of pneumonia or lung fever. Mr. Blaize sent to the nearest drug store and got a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, of which he had often heard, and took a number of large doses. He says the effect was wonderful and that in a short time he was breathing quite easily. He kept on taking the medicine and the next day was able to come to Des Moines. Mr. Blaize regards his cure as simply wonderful. Fifty cent bottles for sale by all dealers. Benson, Smith & Co., Agents.
